gersh is an award-winning physician and renowned national speaker on ovarian health, menopause, environmental toxins and other important issues affecting women of all ages one potential solution may be to get contact lenses that provide the necessary light filtration for humana to maintain its position that this blood test is experimental, it will have to prove that african review is africar’s leading english language business magazine